

13 Years Have Passed Since His Last Stand-Up Special and Legendary Comedian Sinbad is Back! The World Television Premiere of His Brand New, Live One-Hour Concert Special 'Sinbad: Where U Been?' Premieres Sunday, February 21 at 10:00 p.m. ET/PT on COMEDY C

--On Tuesday, February 23, The Exclusive Special Edition 'Sinbad: Where U Been' DVD Will Be Released By COMEDY CENTRAL Home Entertainment And Features Over 45 Minutes Of Never-Before-Aired Material On COMEDY CENTRAL Including A Behind-The-Scenes With Sinbad --Also Available On Download-To-Own On Tuesday, February 23 On iTunes (Pre-Order Available Now), Amazon Video On Demand, Xbox LIVE Marketplace, Zune And PlayStation Store

NEW YORK, Feb 01, 2010 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ -- Sinbad, one of the most renowned comedians on the scene, returns to the stage after a 13-year absence from his last stand-up special and kills it in "Sinbad: Where U Been?" In it, the exuberant performer discusses America's new black president, the lighter side of the economic recession, the pitfalls of love and marriage and, of course, gives everyone the low down of where he's been. Filmed at the Club Nokia Theatre in Los Angeles, the World Television Premiere of "Sinbad: Where U Been?," a brand new live one-hour concert special, debuts Sunday, February 21 at 10:00 p.m. ET/PT on COMEDY CENTRAL.

On Tuesday, February 23, "Sinbad: Where U Been?" DVD will be released nationwide by COMEDY CENTRAL Home Entertainment and Paramount Home Entertainment. This special edition DVD is packed with over 45 minutes of material that did not air on COMEDY CENTRAL. It's a must-own for any true comedy/funk music fan and also includes a behind-the-scenes special feature with Sinbad. In addition, the special will be available on Tuesday, February 23 on download-to-own platforms including iTunes (available for pre-order now) and Amazon Video on Demand, as well as in standard and high definition versions on Xbox LIVE Marketplace, Zune and PlayStation Store.

Known for finding humor in telling real-life stories, Sinbad's comedy is larger than life, energetic and spontaneous. His television career began with stand-up appearances on "Star Search." Soon after, he landed a guest-starring role on NBC's hit series, "The Cosby Show," which spun-off into a starring role on "A Different World." He later became the star of his own self-titled, critically-acclaimed series, "The Sinbad Show," co-starring Salma Hayek, which earned him a nomination for "Favorite Television Actor" at Nickelodeon's Kids' Choice Awards. Other television appearances include "It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia," "Cosby," "Moesha," "Roc," "Slacker Cats" and hosting gigs on "It's Showtime at the Apollo" and "Soul Train." In addition to his success on the small screen, Sinbad's film credits include "Necessary Roughness" opposite Scott Bakula, "Coneheads" with Dan Aykroyd, "Houseguest" opposite Phil Hartman, "First Kid" and "Jingle All The Way" opposite Arnold Schwarzenegger, winning a Blockbuster Entertainment Award for "Favorite Supporting Actor - Family." His stand-up specials include "Sinbad: Brain Damaged," "Sinbad: Afros and Bellbottoms," "Sinbad: Son of a Preacher Man" and "Sinbad: Nuthin' but the Funk."

COMEDY CENTRAL, the only all-comedy network, currently is seen in more than 95 million homes nationwide. COMEDY CENTRAL is owned by, and is a registered trademark of, Comedy Partners, a wholly-owned division of Viacom Inc.'s (NYSE: VIA and VIA.B) MTV Networks. COMEDY CENTRAL's Internet address is www.comedycentral.com. For up-to-the-minute and archival press information and photographs visit Press Central, COMEDY CENTRAL's press Web site at www.comedycentral.com/press.

SOURCE COMEDY CENTRAL Corporate Communications